Season	Object/Cue	Line
Winter	Opening lines, happen after fade in.	Is someone there...? I can't see you... 'Course my eyes aren't what they used to be. Something about this feels familiar. Eh. Take a look around if you want. Nothing of value here unless you count sentimental value.
Winter	Framed Painting (Inspect)	Painted that myself a lifetime ago. Hands are too shaky to hold a paintbrush anymore, but I'm proud of that one. I'm sure it was inspired by one of those seafaring stories I used to devour in my younger days.
Winter	Bookshelf (Inspect)	Haven't read half of those. A few well-worn favorites I always come back to. Reading used to inspire me, but I've lost my ability to focus on anything.
Winter	Chest (Inspect)	Can't remember what's in there. Lost the key ages ago.
Winter	Broom (Inspect)	Heh. Haven't touched that in a while. Guess it's part of the decoration now.
Winter	Hook (Inspect)	Used to use that for all kinds of things, but I can't reach up there anymore. You can hang your coat on it if you really want to.
Winter	Broken Record Player (Inspect)	Doesn't work anymore. Like half my joints. Heh.
Winter	Tattered Rug (Inspect)	I hated that rug when we first got it, but over the years it became my favorite place to sit. Think if I sat there now I'd never get up.
Winter	Windows (Inspect)	Freezing out there. This is the coldest winter I can remember.
Winter	Records (Inspect)	Was leafing through those earlier. Doubt there's anything valuable in there, but I'm still fond of them.

Season	Object/Cue	Line
Winter	Old Man In Chair (Click)	Feel free to poke around in here. It's mostly junk, but even junk can have some sentimental value.
Winter	Painting + Bookshelf (MEMORY CHAIN)	Ohhh that's right... I was enthralled by the Master and Commander books when I was a kid. Used to imagine myself sailing all over the world with my closest companion. Never actually set foot on a boat. I did find my companion, though. For a time.
Winter	Broken Record Player + Records (MEMORY CHAIN)	I remember those summer days when we'd have that thing running nonstop. It was so easy to be happy back then, I had no idea how hard it could get. Like being a kid, you're always looking ahead without realizing how good you have it in the moment.
Winter	Once 2 memory chains are unlocked in Winter	All this reminiscing, it's bringing back memories I haven't thought of in decades... Will you indulge an old man a little more recollection?
Winter	Linking 2 objects that are NOT connected	Hmm... that's not ringing a bell for me. Sorry.
Winter	Linking 2 objects that are NOT connected	Can't see a connection between those things. Then again, can't see much of anything nowadays. Heh.
Winter	Linking 2 objects that are NOT connected	Not sure those things remind me of anything.
Winter	Linking 2 objects that are NOT connected	That's not jogging any memories for me.
Spring	Opening lines of Spring	I grew up in this house. Parents left it to me when they died, and I'll always be thankful for it. Looking around at this room... I had such an imagination as a child, such an enthusiasm for all life could offer. I'd probably be sad or resentful seeing how it all ended up, but let's not think about that right now. Let's enjoy a little nostalgia.

Season	Object/Cue	Line
Spring	Child Painting With Easel (Inspect)	There I go, painting without a care in the world or a single shred of doubt that maybe I wasn't good enough. I was too naive to even worry about that kind of thing. Maybe that's the key, since I never made anything else half as good as that.
Spring	Bookshelf (Inspect)	Back then, I devoured any book I could get my hands on, re-reading them over and over again until I could afford another one.
Spring	Toy Chest (Inspect)	That used to be my toy chest. What greater treasures are there for a child than his toys?
Spring	Model Airplane (Inspect)	My old model plane! I glued it and painted it all by myself. I'd forgotten about that but I'm glad to have this memory of it. I used to imagine it taking me to faraway places.
Spring	Globe (Inspect)	I used to spin that globe so fast eventually we had to replace the axles on it. Always daydreaming of being anywhere but here...
Spring	Typewriter (Inspect)	I had so much pent up creativity that I'd use any medium I could get my hands on to express it. I remember writing some cheesy series of stories about something...
Spring	Plastic Army Men (Inspect)	I fought so many battles in this room. The soldiers had names, backstories, adventures... those cheap pieces of plastic gave me a lot of inspiration.
Spring	Calendar (Inspect)	My mother had a little business making calendars by hand. It wasn't very successful, but everyone who had one cherished it.
Spring	Family Portrait (Inspect)	As far as I knew, we were a happy little family. Mom and I were always the creative types, and Dad was always there to support our endeavors.
Spring	Baseball Bat (Inspect)	Mom loved baseball and wanted me to be the next Ted Williams. We'd play catch sometimes, but I didn't have an athletic bone in my body.
Spring	Model Airplane + Globe (MEMORY CHAIN)	That's right... I remember I wanted to become a pilot and visit every country in the world. I'd take nothing but a little biplane and rucksack and traverse the globe. My younger self would be so disappointed with how few places I've actually been.

Season	Object/Cue	Line
Spring	Typewriter + Plastic Army Men (MEMORY CHAIN)	Oh yes! I wrote an entire serial about a fictional battle for Colorado versus the nazis. I put myself and all my friends in the lead roles, though I think I ended up giving myself a heroic death at the end. I wish I could read it one more time, I remember I thought it was quite good at the time. I'm sure it was abysmal, but with time everything seems better.
Spring	Family Portrait + Calendar (MEMORY CHAIN)	Ahh... I remember how eager I was to grow up. I'd flip ahead to the end of the calendar and imagine how much older and wiser I'd become. Despite everything, I don't long for the simplicity of childhood. I'm content with getting older and leaving that unbridled optimism behind.
Spring	Once 3 memory chains are unlocked in Spring	Oh, my. All this nostalgia for childhood is just making me remember how quickly it can all fade away... I can't help but think about the darkest days... if you really want to see the sum of a life, you'll have to remember those times with me, too.
Spring	Linking 2 objects that are NOT connected	Hm. Those two together aren't jogging any memories for me.
Spring	Linking 2 objects that are NOT connected	Not sure those two go together.
Spring	Linking 2 objects that are NOT connected	I can't recall a connection there...
Spring	Linking 2 objects that are NOT connected	I'm not sure those things go together.
Fall	Opening lines of Fall	Sorry you have to see me like this. Life ain't always pretty. And I wasn't always great at handling the ugly bits. Seeing myself like this, I do take some comfort in knowing it got better. Not good, but better. These are important memories to show me how far I've come. Look around, if you want to.

Season	Object/Cue	Line
Fall	Dead Plant (Inspect)	I really did try to keep that thing alive. But at some point I had only had the energy to keep myself together, and just barely.
Fall	Rolled Up Rug (Inspect)	Hated looking at that for a long time. Couldn't get rid of it, but I couldn't bear to feel it under my feet. Back when I thought I could hide from my feelings, but now I know. They catch up to you.
Fall	Windows (Inspect)	Shortest Fall I can remember. Leaves barely had time to change color before they all blew away.
Fall	Dirty Dishes (Inspect)	Lost the taste for music or really anything I used to enjoy. The only thing I let myself love was my own self-pity. What a waste.
Fall	TV Set (Inspect)	Thought that thing would be a nice distraction, but once you switch it off you're just staring at your own sad reflection. Or maybe that's just me.
Fall	Moving Box (Inspect)	I thought getting out of here would help, but I couldn't do it. I couldn't let go of this place.
Fall	Empty Wine Bottle (Inspect)	I wasn't much of a drinker, even in my lowest days. Must have made an exception...
Fall	Handmade Calendar (Inspect)	After mom passed, I went without calendars for a long time. Then one year I decided to make my own. It wasn't nearly as good as hers, but it became a tradition for me. Kept her fresh in my memory.
Fall	Dead Plant + Dirty Dishes (MEMORY CHAIN)	It was the smell of this place that finally made me realize I couldn't wallow in self-pity for the rest of my life. I'd let it become something so ugly. I wanted it to be somewhere I could invite other people over to. Not that I did very much of that, but at least I gave myself somewhere comfortable to be. In time, I realized I deserve that much at least.
Fall	Rolled Up Rug + Moving Box (MEMORY CHAIN)	I remember now... I was trying to shove that old rug into an overloaded moving truck and it just wouldn't go. I got so frustrated I decided to leave it behind. I unfurled it here in the living room and sat down, to say goodbye. But I found I couldn't get up. Just sat there for hours picking at the soft fibers. Made me realize I wasn't ready to let go.

Season	Object/Cue	Line
Fall	Empty Wine Bottle + Calendar (MEMORY CHAIN)	That's right... I remember now. We got that bottle of wine on our honeymoon. Didn't have a lot of money, so we just drove to the California coast, camping along the way. The one thing we splurged on was that bottle of wine. It was supposed to sit for 15 years and mature, and we thought it'd be nice to drink it on our 15th anniversary. I had to drink it alone.
Fall	Once 3 memory chains are unlocked in Fall	Wait... it's you. I finally understand. You've... you've come back after all this time. You wanted to... see me again? I'm sorry it had to be like this... please, let's remember the good times. Remember with me...
Fall	Linking 2 objects that are not connected	I don't see a connection between those two things.
Fall	Linking 2 objects that are not connected	Sorry, those two aren't sparking anything for me.
Fall	Linking 2 objects that are not connected	Those two don't really connect for me.
Fall	Linking 2 objects that are not connected	That doesn't remind me of anything in particular.
Summer	Opening lines of Summer	This time here, with you, is why I exist. Our time together was everything I had been waiting for since childhood, and it's everything that's kept me going since. It's such a powerful feeling remembering all this. I haven't let myself feel it this vividly in a long time. To be honest, I thought some of these memories were gone for good. Let's look around and savor it at least for a moment.
Summer	Brand New Rug (Inspect)	I hated this rug when you brought it home. Never would have picked it out myself. Now it's one of the few things I can touch that still feels like you, in a sense.
Summer	Chest (Inspect)	What did we put in there? We didn't have any valuables... I'd really like to remember, but I have no idea where the key got to.

Season	Object/Cue	Line
Summer	Key (Inspect)	That's where it is! It must have fallen behind the cushions.
Summer	Thriving Plant (Inspect)	Everything you touched, you made brighter.
Summer	Broken Globe (Inspect)	You wanted to get rid of that and buy a new one, but I was so stubborn about keeping it. After you passed I finally threw it out."
Summer	Record Player (Inspect)	You had that thing running nonstop back then, wasn't a single morning without music in the summertime. After you were gone, I wore out your favorite Dolly record trying to recapture the feeling. But it never felt the same.
Summer	Loveseat (Inspect)	Back when we needed room for two. Don't worry, it went to a good home. Newlywed couple moved in next door so I let them have it for free. It's what you would've done, I think.
Summer	Camera (Inspect)	You used to bring that thing everywhere. Somewhere there's a film roll full of photos from a grocery run we made. I thought it was so pointless at the time, but I'd give everything I have to look at those photos again.
Summer	Key + Chest (MEMORY CHAIN)	That's right, this was your photo stash. Look at these photo albums... and all these undeveloped rolls! There must be thousands of pictures I've never seen before.
Summer	Final lines	I've missed you so terribly, but now I'm ashamed of how I wasted so much of the time you didn't get to have. Thank you for coming to see me. I'm gonna sit awhile with these pictures and memories, but I'll be ready to see you again soon.
Summer	Linking two objects that are not connected	Those two don't go together, I'm afraid.
Summer	Linking two objects that are not connected	There's a different connection here somewhere.
Summer	Linking two objects that are not connected	That's not unlocking anything for me.
